POLICY DOCUMENT

TO MAKE INDIA VISHWAGURU IN EDUCATION THROUGH INTERNATIONALIZATION OF INDIAN EDUCATION

INTRODUCTION

"Internationalisation is a process of introduction of international constituents in research, educational and administrative to the function of higher education". Internationalisation includes the policies and practices undertaken by academic systems and institutions and even individuals to cope with the global academic environment. The motivations for internationalisation include commercial advantage, knowledge, and language acquisition, enhancing the curriculum with international content, to name a few. (J. Knight).

"India since early times has been and continues to be promoted as a global study destination providing premium education at affordable costs. In addition to the traditional institutes of Nalanda and Takshila, universities in India today attract more than 40,000 international students from 164 different countries. But the growth in this number slackened in the past few years compared to that a decade ago. That is why the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 calls for making a plan of action to help India restore its role as a Vishwa Guru.

CHANDIGARH A MODEL FOR GOOD GOVERNANCE

स्थलतुत चंडीगढ़ सक्षतु चण्डीगढ़

FOR CITY AND CITIZENS

INTRODUCTION

India had for over 200 years been forcibly led on a path of modernization, colonial style. With independence she was free to choose what she wanted. Chandigarh was one such choice.

The construction of Chandigarh was to represent the new upbeat spirit that the country experienced in the aftermath of the partition. Chandigarh was designed as a modern town much before transcending modernism became a fashion.

The new capital city of Punjab also represented India's pride and best urban hopes for the future. It was to serve as a training school for Indian planners, who could then replicate their experience in other cities to improve communication systems and raise economic standards. It was to rehabilitate refugees and the displaced Punjab government, to restore the dignity of the Indian Punjabi damaged by partition and the loss of Lahore.
